

A New Beginning

Fenella Elms

Fenella writes that she seeks to be: "attentive, available to the work's potential, allowing and attending to the unexpected... that creates a rhythm and facilitates an active trance of intention. The finished work is a mix of the familiar and strangeness.... There is a pleasure in making just in the pursuit of an idea rather than an outcome".